Gone to the Southward or Westward,

A YELLOW WOMAN, called Celia Detcher, in the 23d year of her age, about 5 feet 2 or 3 inches high—marks like moles on the right side of her face, which, with several letters on her left arm, were made with india ink. She is about four months gone in a state of pregnancy—followed her husband, Jim Clark, a yellow man, who was purchased from this place and taken away in company with a large number of slaves, about two week ago, by a man of the name of Basset. It is supposed they have gone to the westward: Celia was born free, and had with her a notarial certificate of her freedom, and description of her person. Her mother, the subscriber, is much afflicted by her manner of going away, and desires that any humane people who may chance to meet with her, will persuade her to return, being apprehensive that when she gets into a strange country, where she will be unknown and out of the reach of her friends and those who would be likely to protect her, attempts may be made by some avaricious and unprincipled persons, to deprive her of her liberty, and sell her for a slave. Should any such attempts be made, fifty dollars reward will be paid to any person who will communicate such information as shall lead to the conviction of the offenders, and the recovery of the woman.

GAZETTE AND
Alexandria Daily Advertiser.

PUBLISHED BY SAMUEL SNOWDEN,
ROYAL-STREET.

Daily Gazette, 7 dolls...Country, 5 dolls.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1818.

From the London Literary Gazette.

The following impromptu to a lady who expressed some displeasure at his kissing her hands, was made by Dr. Wolcot, alias Peter Pindar, and never before published:

TO PHILLIS.

Thy rosy fingers I have prest,
And really both my lips were blest;
Oh! can'st thou, lovely girl, complain?
Yet if my kiss, as light as air,
Be deem'd so weighty an affair,
I'll take it off thy hand again.

From the Lancaster Journal.

RECEIPT TO MAKE A GENTLEMAN.

1. Get a pyramidal hat, about 18 inches high—black if possible. If you can't get a good black, then substitute a white one, about the size of a Dutch oven.

2. A pretty thick covering of hair, on the head that contains about as much brains as would physick a swallow; the ringlets must hang gracefully over the arabic forehead, and a few curls adorn the under part of the sconce.

3. A shirt, if you can afford it. But if you can't, then a shirt-ee, with pretty broad ruffles. The ruffle must be in fine plaits, about four inches down, taking the chin for the place of beginning.

4. A waistcoat pointed at the bottom so as to resemble as nearly as possible the spout of a pitcher; the back of the waistcoat must be handsomely perforated with holes, thro' which must be drawn a string, with which the waistcoat must be tightly laced, so as to make the body resemble as nearly as possible a half pint decanter turned upside down, or a sugar loaf on its end. This waistcoat, mark ye, must have nothing more than an apology for a collar, stuck round the upper edge, like the rimb of a Dutch oven.

5. A white cravat, pretty well starched, round a piece of pasteboard, adapted to the shape of the neck and chin, tied as tight as you can bear it. The pasteboard stiffening may be dispensed with, if you can afford to purchase a patent pad—or poultice as some call it.

6. A pair of Cossac pantaloons, with eight cords on each leg, wide enough to hold three bushels of potatoes, shaped like a butter churn turned upside down, about a foot shorter than your legs, with a broad hem below. Take care to have them as indecently narrow about the hips as your modesty will permit.

7. A pair of boot-ees, about eighteen inches long, right and left, and very tight about the ankles. If you can trespass so much on your finances, you may wear stockings, which is very seldom done.

8. A blue coat, the waist buttons as near the shoulders as you can conveniently have them, pretty long, and a little bit of velvet round the neck, as an apology for a cape. The coat must fit very tight. The best way to be sure of this is to have it made so small that nobody would think it your own. This coat, however, may be dispensed with, provided you have a little great coat, commonly called a frockee—blue or light brown, made like a surtout, but so short that when the wind blows it may show your hips to advantage.

9. Have an elegant watch chain, and at the end of it a great number of watch seals, about one pound in weight—no matter whether you have a watch or not. Should you happen to be asked in company—'what o'clock is it?' you can readily answer—'pon honer ma'am, miss, or sir, (as the case may be) I am the most negligent creature in the world—do you know that I hav'nt wound up my watch for the last two weeks?' If you have no watch, you know the cream of the joke will be in the truth of your reply.

10. Lastly—have a very large walking stick—the half of a brush handle, loaded with lead, will do very well. In walking the streets, the stick must be lifted perpendicularly, and in like manner set down.—Wear white gloves by all means. Strut about as often as will suit your convenience, and generally alone in order to show your shape to most advantage. When you are in male company, always preface your discourse with 'by G—d, sir;' and when you are in company with the ladies, never say any thing without the introductory clause—'pon honor ma'am or miss, (as the case may be.) By carefully observing these directions you will most assuredly be the 'pink of the fashion,' and as complete a gentleman as the generality of those whom the community of good natured people has honored with that courteous appellation, and quite as great as

BEAU JACKEY.

ALEXANDRIA:
SATURDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1818.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT AT WASHINGTON.

Friday, Dec. 4.

Again a day has been consumed on the discussion of the old stale subject of the Beaumarchais claim, and the best consolation I have to offer you and your readers for the absence of, probably, some interesting matter, which this hum-drum affair may have for days excluded from your congressional article, is that the thing has nearly spent itself, and that this day will do for it, what, with my good will, yesterday should have done—that is, send it to its long home, from whose bourne, travellers of that kind, I hope, will never return—yet there was some sensible talk upon it. Mr. Spencer began the achievements of the day by a long and earnest, and, indeed, an able speech in maintenance of the claim, which would have appeared to rather greater advantage as a specimen of argumentative eloquence, if it had been directed against something of a less impregnable kind than the logical adament of Hopkinson. Considering however the force he had to contend with, Mr. Spencer's display was very creditable to his genius. He was answered by Mr. Storrs with a very judicious and sound refutation of the claims of Beaumarchais; which was again in its turn attempted to be refuted by Mr. Baldwin, who drew largely on his acknowledged ingenuity for the purpose. Mr. Pitkin then rose and rejoined, and it was hoped that his observations would close the debate for ever. But Mr. Bassett moved that the chairman should report progress and ask leave to sit again, which was granted, tho' the cry of question from all parts of the house seemed plainly to say—the sense was pretty general that there had been enough said on that topic. If you like for yourself, or wish to treat your readers to another repast upon the Beaumarchais claim, I think I may venture to recommend it to you not to despair of having one day's more enjoyment.

On motion of Mr. Pollister it was resolved that the secretary of the treasury be directed to lay before the house of representatives a statement of the sales of the public lands in the Alabama territory, at public and private sale, specifying the date of such sales, and the period at which the last payment will become due, and also the aggregate amount of money paid to the receiver of public monies at Huntsville in said territory, and the description of bank-paper, if any, which is recoverable there in payment for the public lands.

On motion of Mr. Trimble it was resolved that the committee on public lands be instructed to enquire whether any, and if any, what provision ought to be made by law to authorize the emanation of patents to soldiers on furlough at the close of the war, and to whom discharges were not issued in consequence of their not being ordered to join their respective regiments.

The following letter was received from the President:

"I transmit to the house of representatives, such of the documents referred to in the message of the 17th ult. as have been prepared since that period. They contain a copy of the reports of Mr. Rodney and Mr. Graham, two of the commissioners to South America who returned first from the mission, and of the papers connected with those reports—they also present a full view of the operations of our troops employed in the Seminole war, who entered Florida.—It would have been gratifying to me to have communicated, with the message, all the documents referred to in it—but as two of our commissioners from South America made their reports a few days only before the meeting of Congress, and the third on the day of its meeting, it was impossible to transmit, at that time, more than one copy of the two reports first made.

The residue of the documents which are very voluminous, will be transmitted as soon as they can be prepared."

(Signed) JAMES MADISON.

December 2d, 1818.

They were ordered to be laid upon the table and printed.

From the Detroit Gazette, November 13.

TREMENDOUS GALE ON LAKE MICHIGAN, AND WRECK OF THE HERCULES.

The following letter, containing the melancholy information of the wreck of the Sch. Hercules, Capt. Church, was received a few days since, by express through the interior of the territory.

"Fort Dearborn, Chicago, Oct. 13.

"Sir—I have to communicate the painful intelligence of the loss of the schooner Hercules, with every person on board. She sailed from this port on the evening of the 2d inst. and was wrecked near the head of the lake, during one of the most dreadful gales of wind within the recollection of the oldest inhabitants of this country. It came on early on the morning of the third, and continued to rage with unremitting violence until the evening of the fourth, when it in some measure subsided, and the lake became more calm. But no information of the schooner could be obtained until the evening of the ninth, when his untimely fate was communicated by a party of Ottawa Indians from Grand River, and confirmed by the production of several articles they had picked up on their way, known to have belonged to her, together with a scale, recollected as the property of Lieut. Eveleth, of the corps of Engineers, the only passenger on board. On the morning of the 10th, I detached Lieut. Dean, in company with Mr. Dean agent for the contractor at this post, in search of the dead bodies, and to obtain, if possible, a more circumstantial account of the melancholly event. They returned last evening, and report that they found the remains of one of the unfortunate sufferers only, and that in a situation not to be identified; that the shore was literally strewed with the fragments of the vessel, from twelve to fifteen miles in length; that the main-mast must have been cut away during the gale, and remained entire; and the foremast broken in several places. But no information could be gained of the hull, nor could they recover any of the lost property, except an old uniform coat of Lieut. Eveleth's, two handkerchiefs, and a part of his flute, and some articles of no value belonging to the vessel, which they took from an indian canoe. The Ottawas, who are the only Indians that have made any report on the subject, state that the Potawatamies, a band of whom reside near the fatal spot, carried off every article of value they could lay their hands upon, that one party, loaded with the spoil, have gone down the Illinois, and another in the direction of the Wabash. This statement is corroborated by the fact, that the Potawatamies from that quarter were previously in the habit of visiting us almost daily, and not one of them has since made his appearance at this post.

I have the honor to be, most respectfully, your obedient servant,

(Signed) DANIEL BAKER,
Major U. S. Army.

Major General MACOMB.

At a meeting of the officers of the army at this post, Resolved unanimously, that it is with grief we learn the untimely fate of our late friend and associate, Lieut. William S. Eveleth, of the corps of engineers, who was lost in the schooner Hercules on lake Michigan, on the 4th ultimo.

That in testimony of our esteem for his worth, and regret for his loss, we will wear the usual badge of mourning for one month.

Detroit, November 11, 1818.

Lieutenant EVELETH, the subject of the foregoing resolution, graduated about two years ago at the military academy at West Point. Although young, he had attained such proficiency in his studies as to receive an appointment in the corps of Engineers, which is generally bestowed upon those cadets only who have been pre-eminent for talents and application. He was soon ordered to this department, where he remained until his decease. The assiduity and skill he evinced in the performance of his military duties, were a sure earnest of his future usefulness and distinction, and secured to him the esteem of his friends, and the approbation of his superiors. He was just closing an official tour of observation, made in conjunction with another officer of the corps of engineers, and already under orders for Washington, where he might have received the reward of his exertions, when he met his untimely fate. It is lamentable to behold any age or condition drop thus abruptly into the abyss of eternity; but to see a life of youth and promise thus extinguished, is peculiarly distressing.

Engineer Department, Dec. 1, 1818.

ORDERS.

The lieut. col. commandant of the corps of engineers announces, with regret, to the officers of the corps, the death of lieutenant WILLIAM S. EVELETH, who was drowned on lake Michigan, on the 4th ult. As a testimony of esteem for his virtues, and regret for his loss, the officers of the corps will wear the usual badge of mourning for one month.

W. K. ARMISTEAD,
Lieut. Col. Commandant Engineers.

Translated for the New-York Columbian from French papers.

Madrid, Sept. 1.

Relative to the occupation of Pensacola our court has transmitted several energetic notes to most of the courts in Europe. It has been judged necessary to support the negociations by a considerable armament; that which had been so long preparing at Cadiz is now ready. The Count de Obisba, General O'Donnel, is named to the chief command of the army, destined for the expedition, and he has already formed the numerous staff which is to accompany him.

The Count is a Spaniard, born of Irish parents; whilst a youth he commenced his military career in the Royal Body Guard. During the wars against France he distinguished himself by his valor, his talents and the services which he rendered to the king. He is now 43 years of age; his constitution is robust, though a severe wound received in his thigh prevents him from mounting on horseback without assistance: of a firm and steady character he rises superior to all dangers and difficulties. It is believed that his powers are unlimited, so as to enable him to use his own discretion and conform to circumstances. Independent of the corps cantoned in Audaluzia and Estremadura, orders have been already issued for several other regiments to join the expedition.

Rome, September.

The College of the Propaganda has received intelligence from China, Tonquin and the Philippine Isles, dated the 2d of August and 10th December, 1817.—The cruel persecution of the Christians in China had not extended to the missions of the Dominicans in Fokien and Chinchcu. In Tonquin the missions of the same religious order enjoyed perfect tranquility, and the king of the country, named Gia-Laons, was favorable to the Christian religion. They had made considerable progress there and in the Philippine Isles, so much so, that the missionaries were not sufficient for the number of communicants that had been formed. They have written letters to the Dominican convents in Spain to prevail on their brethren to aid in the mission to those countries.

From the report transmitted by the missionaries, it appears there are in Tonquin 157,753 Christians; in the Chinese provinces of Fokien and Chanchen 40,000, and in the Balanes 10,000.

The 31st of August last, the school for Nautical Instruction established in the Legion of the Lower Loire, in garrison at Brest was solemnly opened in presence of the whole of the military chiefs. The pupils reckon amongst their number, and we say it with satisfaction, several old mustachoes. The school is in full activity under the direction of captain Laugerman, who has been instructed by Mr. Trovert, director of the school at Brest. In founding this useful establishment, the Chevalier Walsh, chief of battalion and commandant, has had the honor of anticipating the benevolent intentions of the king, who has manifested his determination of attaching a school to each corps of the army.* The school of this Legion has been scarcely formed and already it counts in a single battalion 104 pupils. The exercises after twelve or fifteen lessons have proved the excellence of the new method and the rapid progress which springs from its results.

*Congress might profit by this example—they should reflect that non-commissioned officers and privates stand more in need of education than the sons of the opulent.

From a London paper.

MANSION HOUSE—AN ODD SCENE.

The Lord Mayor was interrupted in the course of his business by a sailor, a showman, and a monkey, who arrived at the Justice room with a great multitude behind them.

The monkey was making a most hideous noise, and the sailor and showman, who had been arguing in their way to the Mansion House, were so wholly absorbed in the subject of dispute as not to take notice for some time of the authority presiding. The monkey was much more attentive to forms, and, as will be presently seen, seemed to have an impression that he had got into better company than he had been accustomed to.

His Lordship, having noticed the respectful demeanour of the monkey, called upon the sailor and showman to follow the example of the animal, who at that moment began to play some of the most laughable tricks, such as pulling the showman's nose, untying his cravat, dragging open his waistcoat, and, in fact, proceeding to the business of stripping him.

The Lord Mayor having desired that the complaint, if there was any, should be immediately stated, the sailor said he and the monkey were the injured persons, and the showman the aggressor.

His Lordship seemed to think that the monkey would be as well able to explain the matter as either of his companions, and if it would be fair to judge from the expression of the face, one would attribute to the monkey, the moment the sailor began to speak, a more clear notion of the business; for while the features of the man were agitated, those of the monkey were as grave as a philosopher's.

The monkey kept his eye fixed upon the Lord Mayor while his Lordship was speaking, and at the conclusion of every sentence uttered a piercing yell, that startled every body in the office.

The sailor then said that he went into Gillman and Adkins' exhibition of wild beasts, in Bartholomew fair; and while he was looking at the curiosities, he heard a very shrill noise, to which his ears were not strangers. Upon looking to the upper part of a large cage, he saw the monkey, which was now before his Lordship, in great agitation, and in an instant knew it to be his own property, which he had purchased at St. Kitts for 4 or 5 dollars, and lost at Portsmouth some time ago. He immediately told the keeper that he was d——d if that was not his monkey, and have it he would. The keeper refused to give it up on such authority, and declared that his masters had bought it fairly for a pound.

The showman was by this time in a high passion with the monkey, who had siezed him with such violence by the nose as to make him roar out. The animal was growing more and more averse to the control of the keeper, held out his paws to the sailor, and moaned in the most dismal manner.

The Lord Mayor said, the only way for him to decide upon a case in which there was positive assertion on both sides, was to leave the matter to the monkey himself. His Lordship directed that the monkey should be placed upon the table, and that each party claiming him, should use his powers of facination, in order to ascertain to whom the monkey was most attached.

The monkey was put upon the table, but it was nearly fatal to him, for a large dog which has been a constant visitant at the mansion house, and had been watching for some time, made a spring at him, and but for the sailor, would probably have decided the matter without giving his Lordship any further trouble.

The Lord Mayor marked the effect of this very important adventure upon the plaintiff and defendant, and was of opinion, that as the greatest concern was manifested upon the part of the sailor, he was the right master. His Lordship is supposed to have had in view a precedent of very high authority.

The monkey clung about the neck of the sailor, and licked him, patted his cheeks and caressed him in the most affectionate manner.

The Lord Mayor desired the showman to take him from the sailor, but the attempt exasperated the animal greatly.

The sailor said, that if further proof was necessary, he would give it.

The Lord Mayor suggested that the parshould issue commands to the monkey.

The showman put a piece of stick in the monkey's paw, and ordered him to shoulder arms. Instead of complying with the order the monkey struck the keeper on the head, and then threw it in his face.

The sailor then called to him, "Jack, make a salaam to his Lordship." The monkey instantly stood erect on his hind legs, raised his paws to the top of his head, and made a low bow to the Lord mayor in the Turkish style; he then hugged the sailor as before. "If any thing else is necessary," said the sailor, "I'll do something more; there is a hole in one of his ears, which I bored in St. Kitts, for it is fashionable for the bucks to wear one earring there; his left paw is marked by a fishing hook, and part of his tail was bitten by a parrot that used to quarrel with him."

These marks observed. The Lord Mayor advised the showman to give up all claim to the monkey. The showman refused. The sailor refused to part with the monkey, and the monkey refused to part with him. The two disputants left the office, the monkey about the neck of the sailor.

Money Lost.

WAS dropped or taken out of my pocket, on Tuesday night last,

One hundred and fifty dollars

as near as I can recollect. The notes were of the following sums, as well as I can remember. viz. one note for 50 dollars, Bank of the Metropolis; four 20 dollar notes, I think, of the Potomac Bank, as I had received them there a few days before.—There were small notes in 2 papers, marked "L. Hooff," and "Henry Johnston," intended to be given them. The balance of the money was perhaps in 5, 3, and 1 dollar notes. I had the money late in the evening wrapt in a piece of newspaper, and was not out of the house that night further than in the passage and step of the front door; it must therefore have been lost there. Any person having found the above, by returning it to me, will merit and meet a generous reward to their satisfaction.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensels and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.
September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirous of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, esq. or

GEORGE MASON.
Gunston, October 5

Alexandria, August 4.

WAS committed to the jail of this Co. as a run away, a negro man, who calls himself JOHN WEAKS, and says that he was born free in Prince George Co. Maryland, that his mother's name is Sally Green, who lives near the road leading from the Alexandria Ferry to the Eastern Branch bridge, adjoining one Hen. Thompson. He was committed to this jail on the 7th May last, and then called himself William Washington, but made his escape the 16th. He is about 25 years of age, 5 feet 7 inches high, stout made. Says he is known to Mr. Daniel Moxley, and Henry Thompson, of Maryland. The owner is requested to come and prove his property, pay charges, and take him away, otherwise he will be disposed of as the law directs.

Gill Nets! Gill Nets!

To the Citizens of Washington, Frederick, and Montgomery counties.

AS the General Assembly of Maryland will sit in the course of a few weeks, I take the liberty of calling the attention of the people of the upper counties to the subject of Gill Nets; that all those who may agree with me in opinion, may unite in petitions to the Legislature to pass such laws as may effectually prevent the use of them hereafter in the Potomac. Since the introduction of these Nets into our waters, the people of the upper counties have experienced the most pernicious effects of this practice. It is a fact well known, that many persons at the last season, after leaving their homes, with their teams, at the most busy season of the year, and travelling, perhaps, from 50 to 100 miles to reach the nearest landings, and after being detained there a considerable time, exposed to the inclemencies of the weather, and often without any shelter but what was afforded to them by the coverings of their waggons, while their crops too were suffering greatly at home, were obliged at last to return without any fish. Some procured their Herrings, but not one in ten could get the Shad they wanted for their families. These Gill Nets, it is said, are fished almost exclusively by persons from the Eastward—a covetous people they must be:—they would take the bread from our mouths if they could do it—and they certainly will the fish if left to themselves. It is stated they had 500 vessels engaged in this business during the last season; such a number of Nets will form such an obsturction in the river as to keep back the Shad altogether, and by breaking the schools of Herrings will render even the catching of them uncertain. And what adds to our grievance, the fish that are caught in this manner are not disposed of to our citizens, but are cured on board the vessels that take them, and carried as an article of traffic to some other portions of the Union, or, perhaps, to foreign parts.

The people of the upper counties are peculiarly situated; living remote from any of the Rivers, with which nature has so bountifully watered our state, they have only an opportunity afforded to them once a year of procuring fish of any kind for their families; and it rests with the Legislature to determine whether they shall be deprived of this right, attended as it is too, with great sacrifice, expense and trouble; and it must be known too to the members that may compose that body, that fish, from long use and custom, have become indispensably necessary to our families.

If any doubt should exist as to the facts herein stated, I have only to observe that they will be entirely removed by referring to any one from either of the upper counties, who attended at the landings either of the two last seasons, particularly the last.

Having said much more than I intended, I have only to call upon all those who feel an interest in this business, to lose no time in getting signatures to such a petition as I have recommended,—and also to see and converse upon the subject with such persons as they may think proper to send as delelgates to the next General Assembly; and I have also to request the favor of the editors of the Fredericktown papers, to give these remarks a place in their respective papers, that the subject may be fully brought before the people of the upper counties.
